

The Lancaster Herald

THE GATEWAY TO THE GREAT NORTH WOODS AND THE NORTHEAST KINGDOM

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 2007

TOLL FREE: 1-866-246-8998

VOL. 7, NO. 17

Groveton Eagles Girls Are Class S State Champions

This year's girls varsity soccer Class S state champions are the Groveton Eagles, front, from left: Kelsey Ledger, Kelley Collins, Katelyn Cloutier, Brittany Beaton and Pam Gonyer; back: Assistant Coach Tim Haskins, Jillian Brasse, Krystal Green, Jessica McKenzie, Caitlyn Nolin, Crystal McKenzie, Zoe Alcantara, Christine Gadwah, Taylor Langkau, Emily Pelletier, Mallory Langkau, Alexa Dempsey, Cayla Nolin, Amanda Pelletier and Head Coach Dan Fogg. Liz Carney photo.

By Liz Carney

The Groveton Eagles girls' soccer team dethroned the Class S defending champions Wilton-Lyndeborough 2-1 at the state finals game at the Merrimack Valley High School on Nov. 4. The Eagles found themselves in a rematch game from last year's playoff when the Warrior sent them home one game short of the finals. "In the first half we played pretty even," "I knew coming out if these girls came out and played somewhat near what they're capable of we were going to win it," said Head Coach Dan Fogg, "Wilton is a good well coached and skilled team."

With the wind in their face
(Continued on page 2)

Wausau Workers Will Have Chance To Speak Tomorrow

By Charlotte Sheltry

Tomorrow, the displaced Wausau Paper employees, their families and all those affected by the closure of the mill will be given the first opportunity to come together and speak for the first time in one voice.

Whatever their concerns are for the present and future will be heard by the residents of the area, and hopefully their ideas for the future shared in an anticipation that collaboration between each other and each community will promote unity in effort.

The Director of Mt. Spirit Institute Brenda Dowst of
(Continued on page 2)